We Respectfully Dedicate
Blue Bonnet '65

Dedication

The student body is proud and honored to dedicate the Blue Bonnet for 1965 to Mr. Joe Gary.

After he attended Cross Plains High School and Texas University, he later came to San Antonio to attend Trinity University. There he received the Bachelor of Science degree.

He came to the Academy in 1961 to work as a dormitory supervisor and actually started teaching in 1963 when he assumed the responsibility of third, fourth, and fifth grade math and fifth grade science.

He has been a friend of all the student body and has done much to build an interest in his math classes and in the teams which he has from time to time been called on to coach.

As Mr. Gary and Linda leave our campus now for a tour of duty, we bid both of them farewell and wish them God speed and a safe return.

In Memoriam

To dedicate this page to any one particular person this year would be failing on our part to acknowledge the loss of many of the former friends and supporters of the school who have passed away during this year, as well as failing to consider the loved ones of students, staff, and faculty who have left our midst.

Through a lack of knowledge of such a happening we may have omitted someone from the list of those whom we honor here, but we hope that they will somehow be also represented on this our memorial page.

To the memory of:

Mrs. Eula Cabness

Mrs. J. R. Saucedo

Mrs. Phyllis Orr

Mrs. Jennie Taylor

Mrs. Edward Galt

Mrs. E. A. Basse, Sr.

Miss Pat Bump

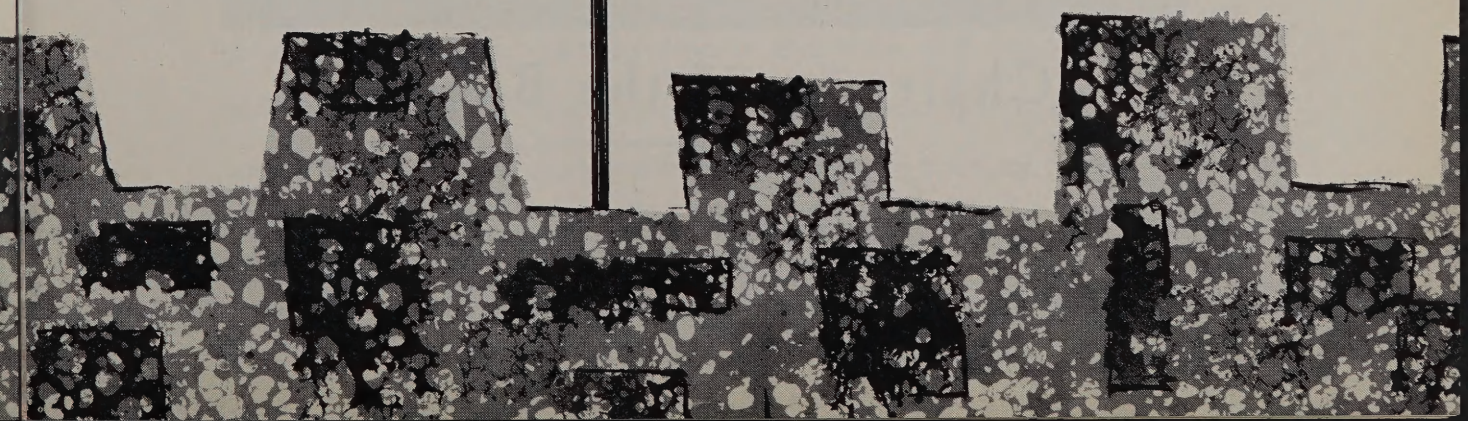

Mr. R. H. Lewellyn

Mr. Noah Evans

Mrs. Myrle Hatcher

we dedicate this page as a lasting tribute to their glory.

W. T. Bondurant

The Chairman of the Board Speaks

Yet another year has now reached its final act and commencement is being practiced for, speeches are nearly ready to be spoken, and always it seems there are so many things that need to be said that have to be left unsaid, so many warnings that each might heed, so many stated hopes that somehow must remain on the tongue's tip never to be uttered.

Somehow, though, with all of the apprehension that so naturally is a part of seeing those you have nurtured and cherished step forth to take their place in more manly form and with more measured step than when they came, each young man now takes his place with assurance and with pride, doing far more than he himself was able to admit was possible.

The minutes of shoe shining and brass polishing have now become a total that would measure in hours for some and days for those who have been here still longer. The hours of class preparation in homework or recitation have now lengthened into days and months. One need not wonder then at the straightness of body or the head held high when so much has gone into accomplishing this final act that doesn't signify the end but rather the beginning.

For those of us who remain to teach, counsel, and guide those who are to follow, we ask your concern to be focused on your fellow man, your love of country, your devotion to your duty, and your constancy of purpose. Give only that which you know is your best to everything you approach, and we shall know that together we have not failed.

The President's Page

The measure of the success of a school is often found in the support of its alumni. If this is any indication of the job that San Antonio Academy is doing, I feel that we can be justly proud of some vital statistics. Of our student body of one hundred fifty boys, twenty-three are sons of former students, but thirty-seven others are legacies whose grandfathers, uncles, cousins, or brothers went to school here also.

The remarks, made in passing that are sometimes said with embarrassment (because most men are not only embarrassed by praise themselves they are also embarrassed to give it) indicate that there are in addition to our alumni still those who are grateful for an understanding of their son in a personal way, for the character of those to whom they intrust their sons, for the warmth, the concern, and the earnestness of those that give of themselves to teach, and most of all for the tenets of faith, patriotism, and love of God which seem to encompass it all.

The men who teach here are still of a caliber to dislike sham, to be indifferent to salary, and above all to believe in the best of their often none-too-zealous students. These are the men whom I would eulogize for not just instructing in the so-called "book-learning" but instead for the character, spirit, desire, ambition, confidence, ad infinitum, that they have instilled in each of their students.

In the Latin words, nulla vestigia retrorsum, translated "no steps backward," one might well find the underlying philosophy of our school, our faculty, and particularly of our students. Their desire to achieve new goals in all fields will remain constant.

MISS DOROTHY MURRAY

Our Kitchen Staff

“Every day in every way” begins an old writing that should be somehow twisted to relate to how much effort is made by this group of ladies to see that we are not just fed but well-fed. From early to late, there just doesn’t seem to be any time limit on their duty.

Thank you for a most filling year and for all your fine work in our behalf.

Our Janitorial Staff

This year we have added to the already capable Clell Myers his son Charles. Together they have already done much to improve the general appearances and keep the buildings and campus cleaner than ever. We are pleased and proud of them both.

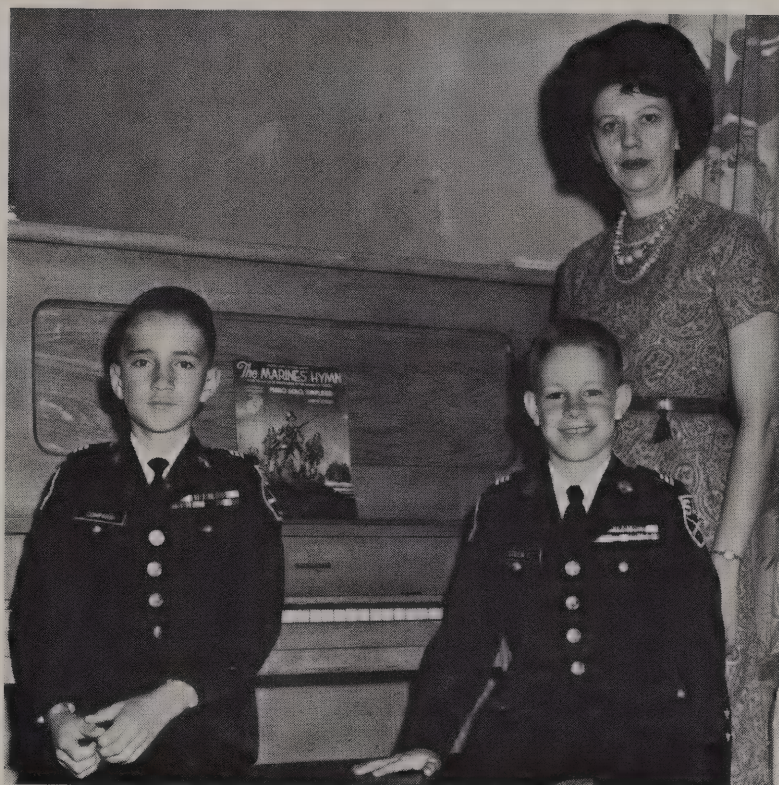

Our Band Director

MR. JIMMIE KLEIN

Our Piano Teacher

MRS. IMOGENE GILLMORE

Our Classroom Teachers

“As the twig is bent, so grows the tree.” These are the men who bend the new growth and who nurture each small idea until it becomes the ripe fruit of a self-developed thought. Theirs is a grave and great responsibility which must be exercised in the best way to satisfy the need or needs of the individual student.

We who are the senior class know how much has been done to create capable students from the raw material of young boys who wanted knowledge without working to get it. We thank you for your persistent effort in our behalf.

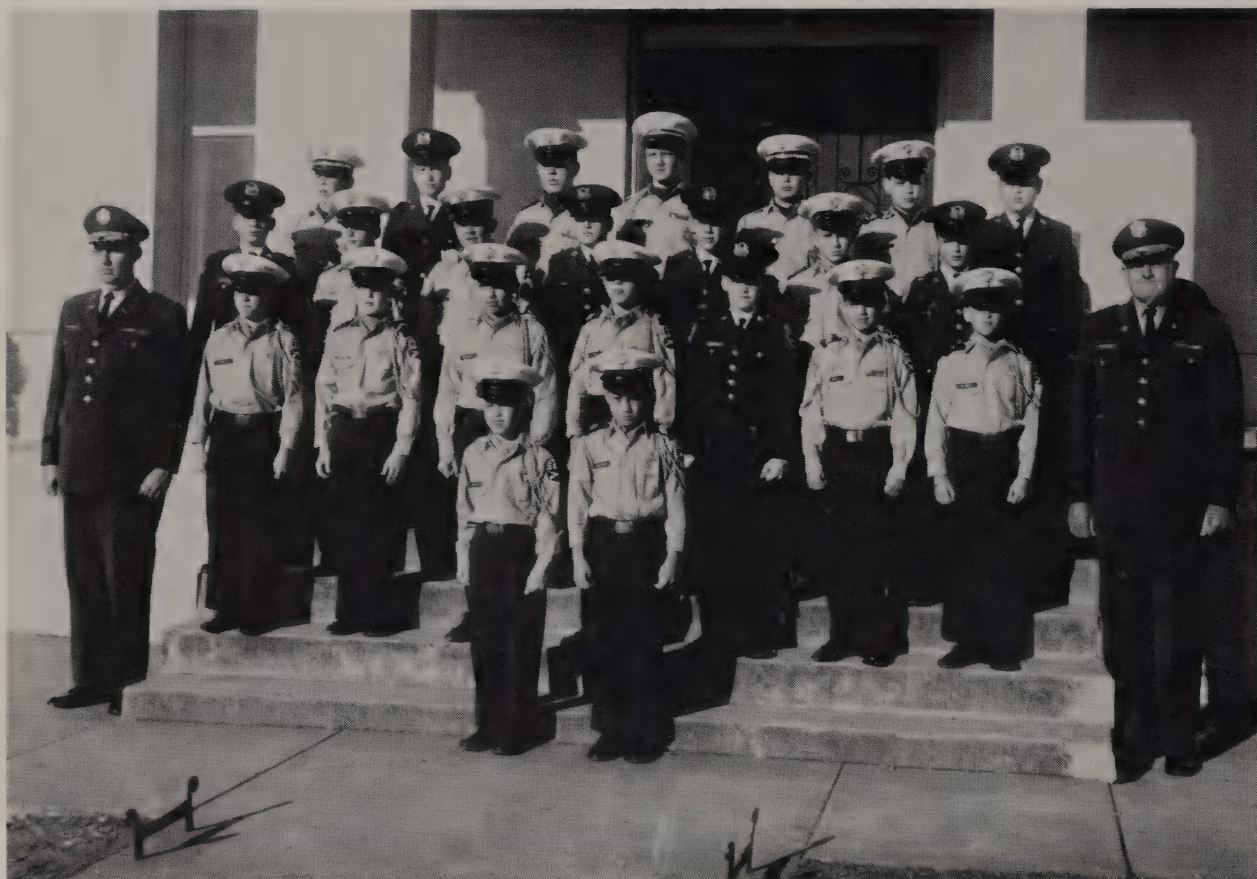

Our Librarian

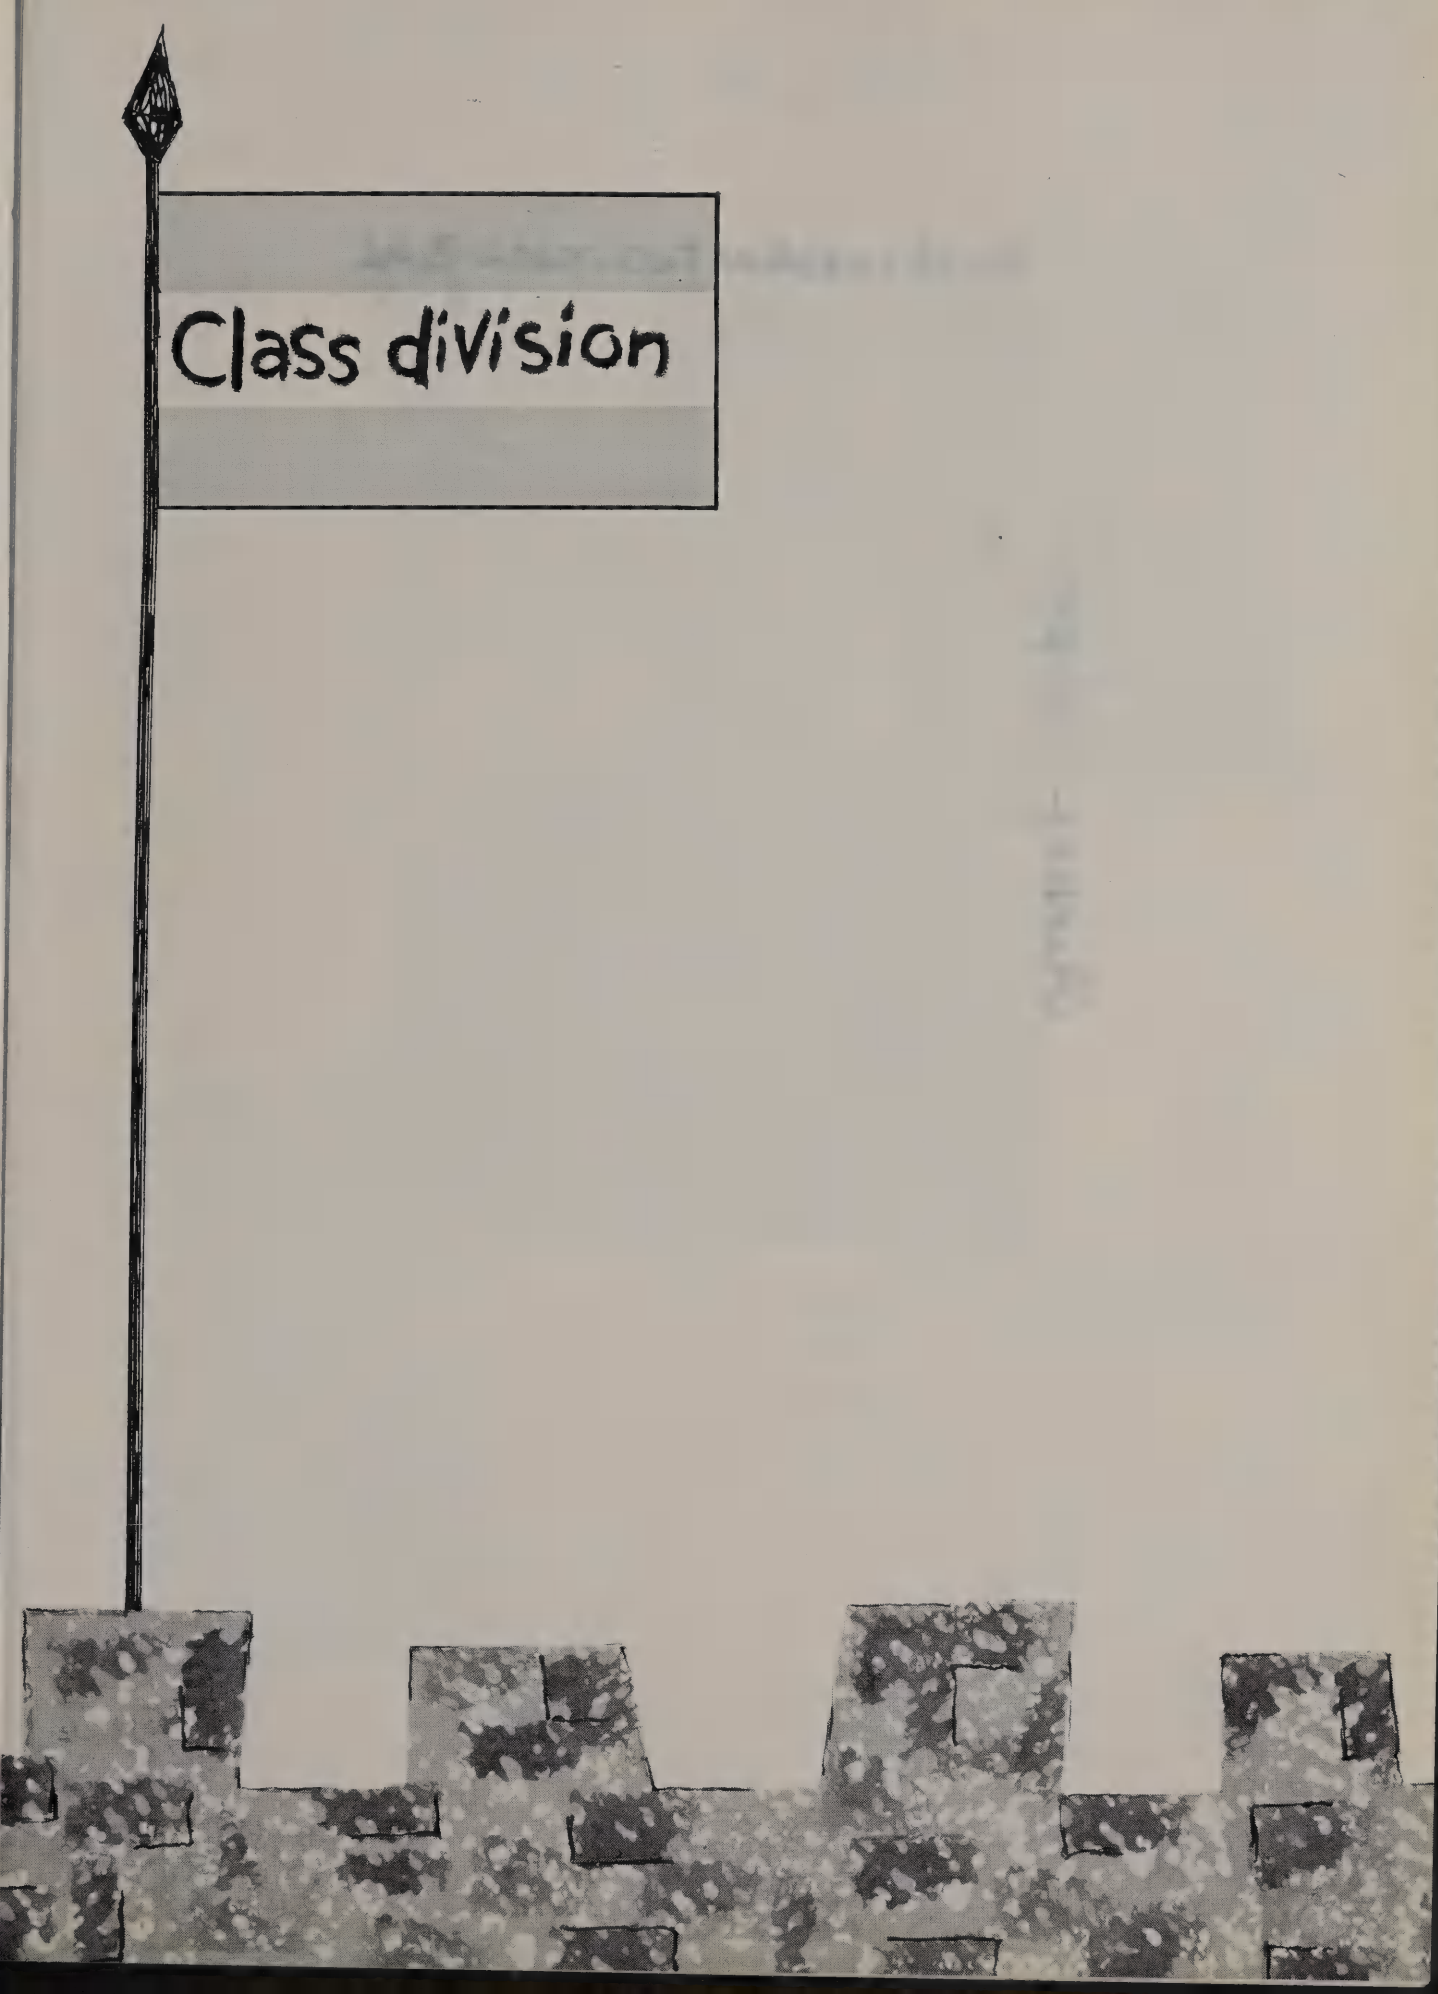

Top: Mr. Roe and some of his avid third grade readers.

Bottom: Mr. Hatcher brings his fourth graders to the library to return their books.

Our Legacies

Major Bondurant and Colonel Bondurant are pictured on the front steps of the dormitory and administration building with the sons of Colonel Bondurant's former students.

A hand-drawn illustration on a light-colored background. A tall, thin black flagpole stands vertically. At the top of the pole is a diamond-shaped finial with a cross-hatch pattern. A rectangular banner is attached to the pole, featuring a diagonal split: the left half is dark grey and the right half is light grey. The words "Military" and "division" are written in a black, handwritten-style font across the banner. At the base of the flagpole, there is a silhouette of a city skyline with several rectangular buildings of varying heights, filled with a dark, stippled texture.

To these men we of the senior class owe many thanks for the efforts that have gone into the forming and developing of such an outstanding battalion as we have.

OFFICERS

It would be very difficult to find a better-looking group of young men if you searched the country over in an attempt to locate a similarly qualified gathering. The surprising thing about this, too, is that the quality of leadership and scholarship is equally as high. Is it any wonder then that we have the kind of battalion that we do?

RANKING NON-COMS

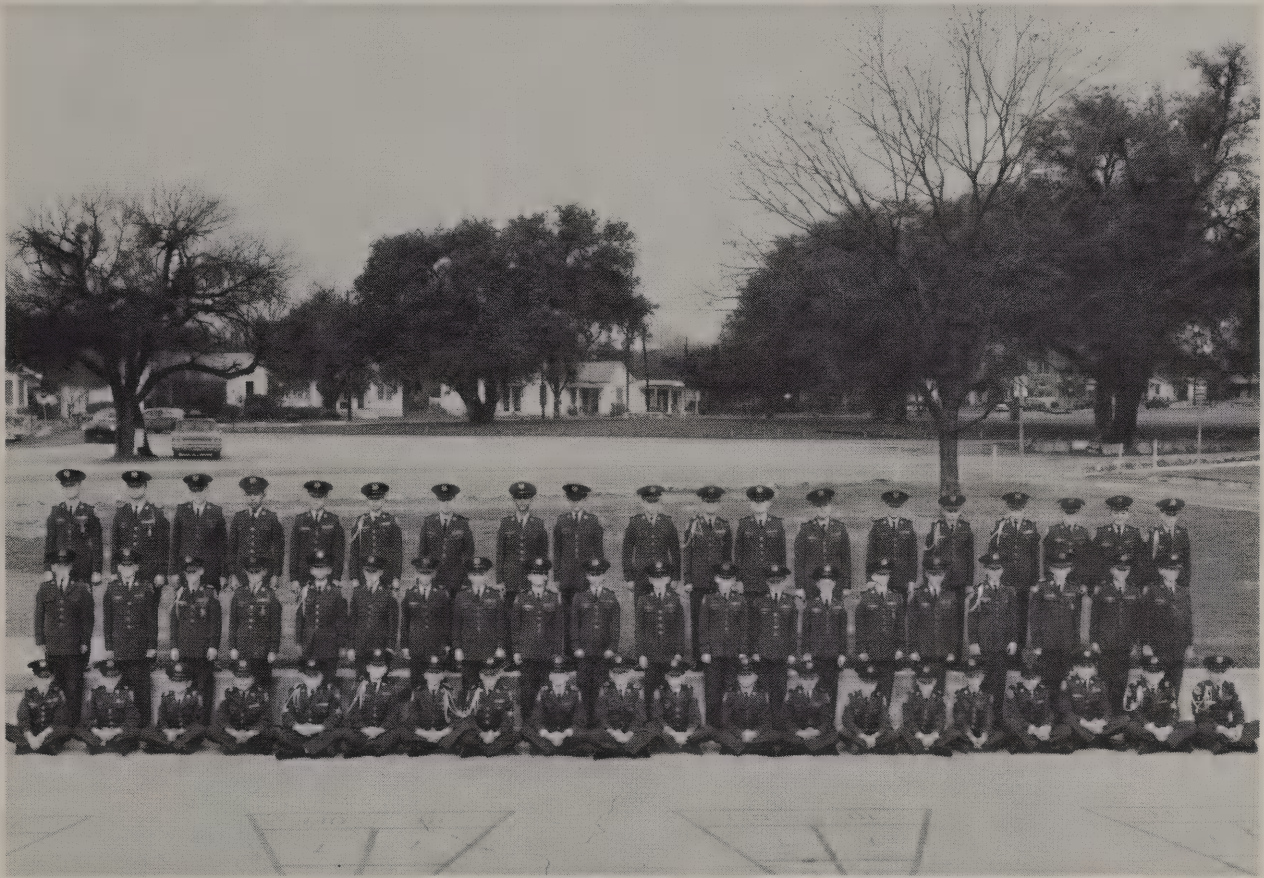

This is the last look many of us will have at the group of non-commissioned officers that look from the page before us into the future, but we can see in their eyes the boyhood efforts toward manly goals. We feel secure in leaving them with the responsibility for keeping tradition in a high place of attainment and for making next year's battalion even better than this.

★ ★ ★ ★

NON-COMS

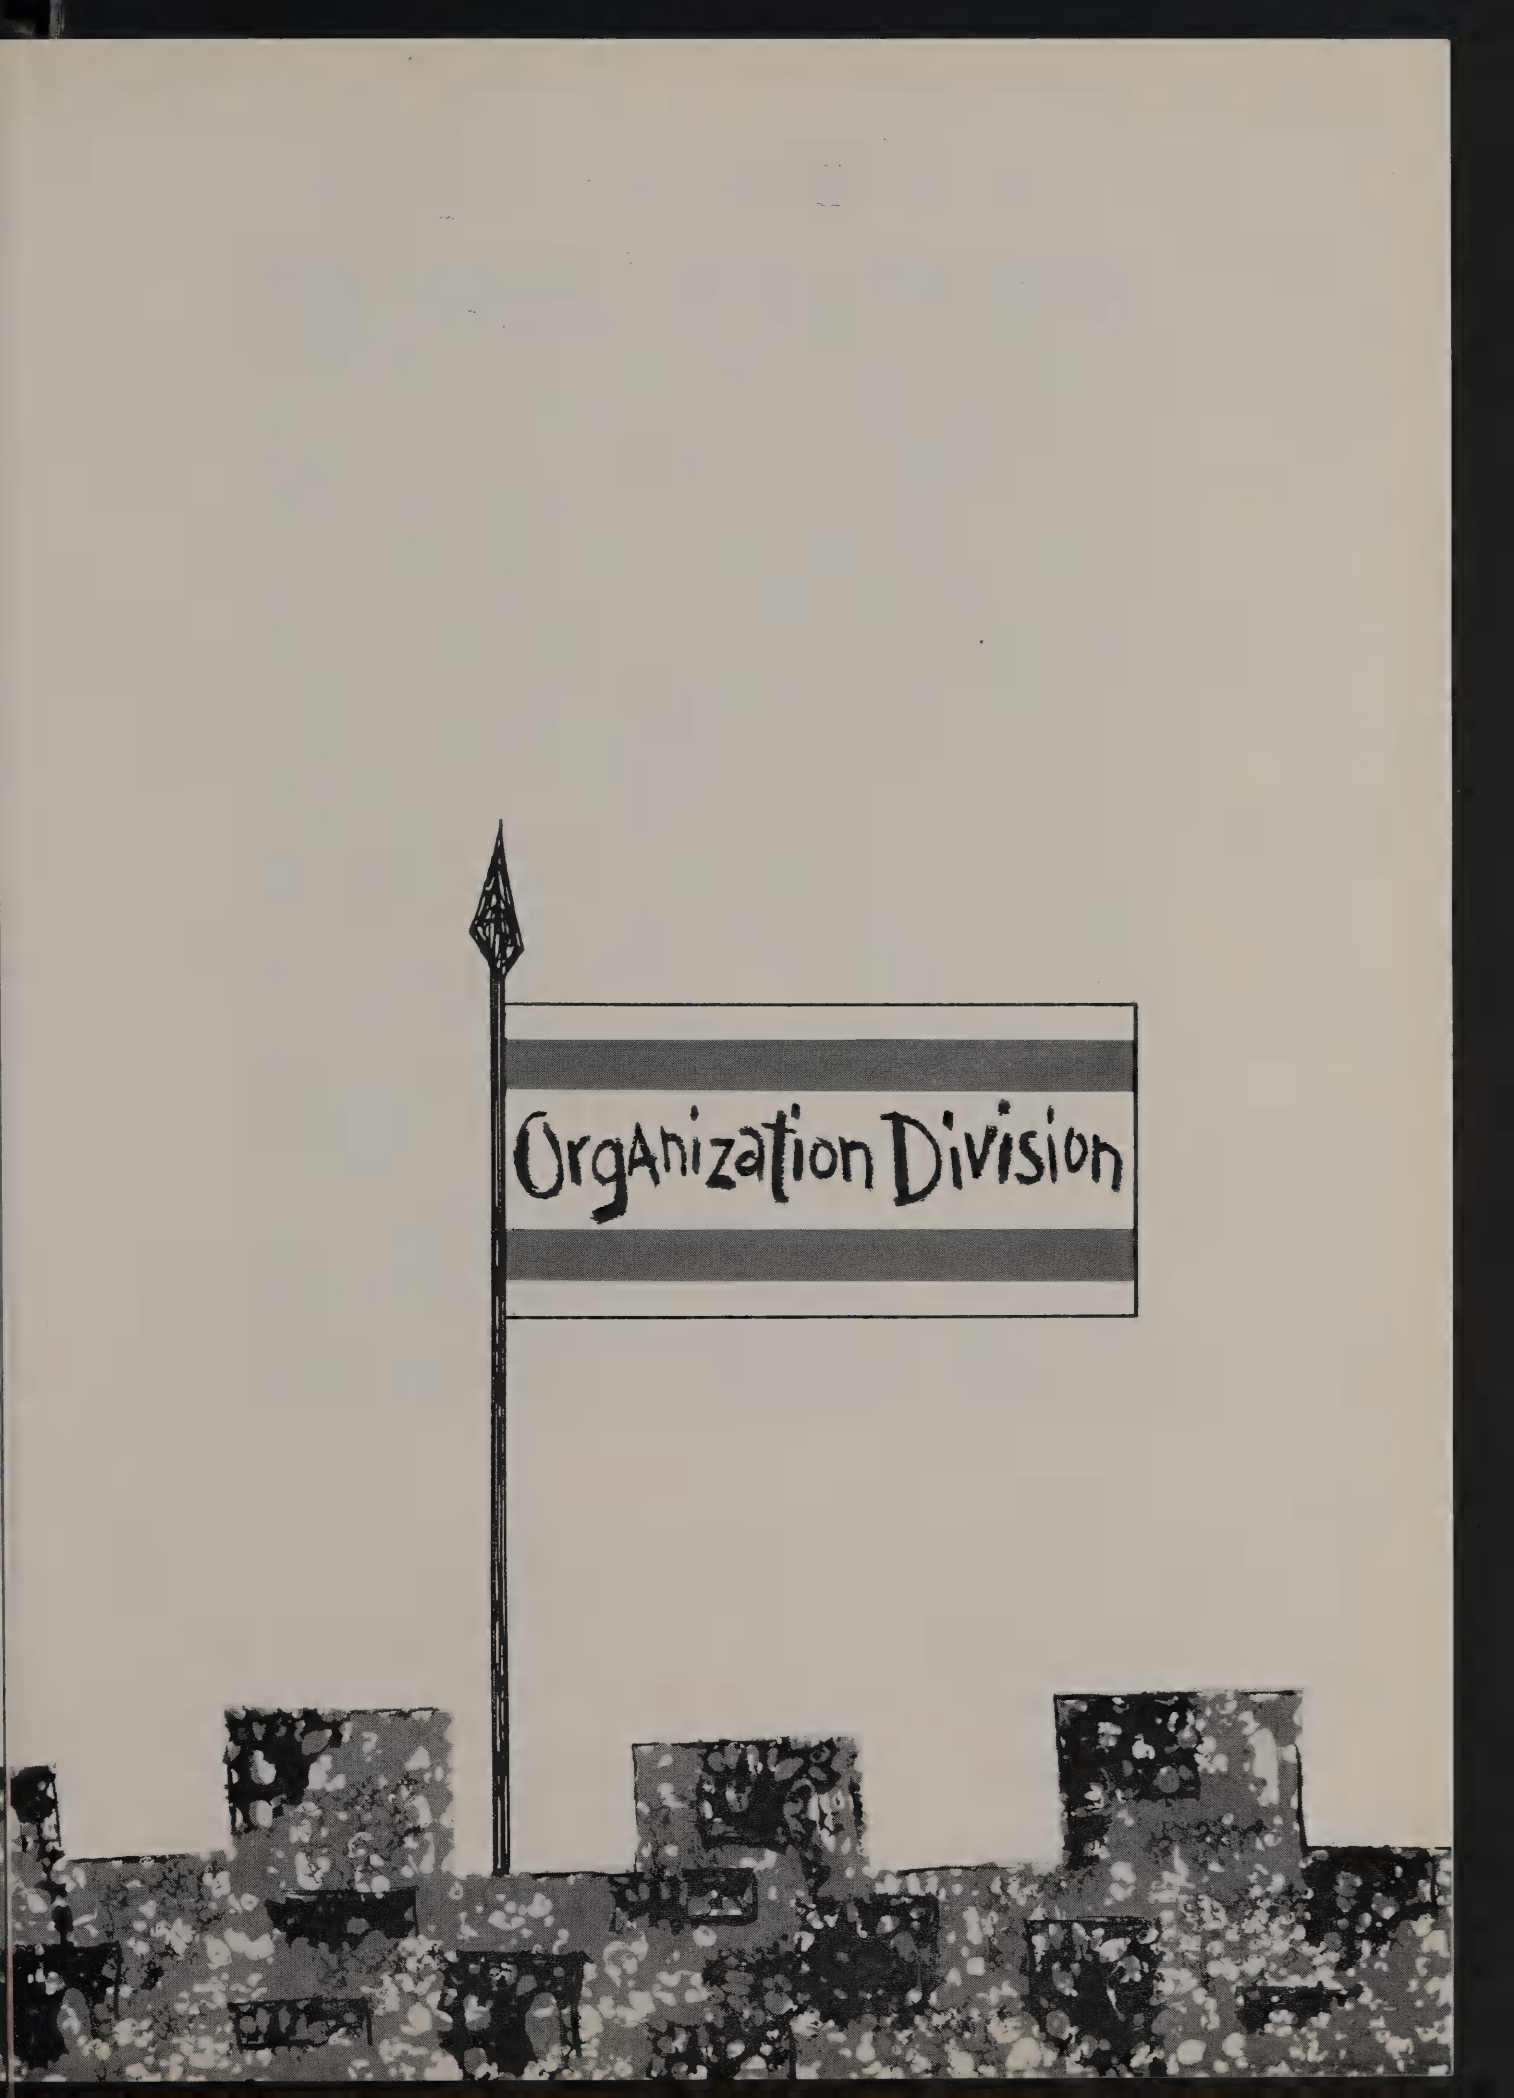

Is there any wonder that the school has such an outstanding drill team in both the junior group and the senior group? It is virtually impossible to be a member of either drill team without first being a non-commissioned officer. To achieve this particular distinction you must have shown proficiency in your school work. To this group go the congratulations of us all in the class of '65.

Our Friday Morning Inspection

Colonel Bondurant assisted by Major Beinhorn makes an inspection of C Company.

Major Bondurant awards merits to S/Sgt. Mark Jacob for his proficiency in appearance.

Organization Division

BLUE BONNET STAFF

These are the real heroes of the day the annual finally comes to the hand of each student. The after school hours and the vacation days that have been sacrificed to the completing of an annual seem somehow worth it all then, but there have been times when interest waned and desires weakened.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all of you for your cooperation on the pictures and the time that you spent in their making.

★ ★ ★ ★

CADET CADENCE STAFF

At this writing the newspaper staff has had three excellent issues for this year and anticipates having one more, the commencement issue. The staff is to be congratulated on the interest that has been shown and the high quality of material that has been published. This paper can say that it doesn't take a back seat to any other, and that it is truly among the best to be found anywhere.

Our job is now finished but we look with much expectancy toward the efforts of your staff for the balance of the year. Congratulations on your fine quality.

THE SCIENCE CLUB

This group was organized for the purpose of planning and staging the San Antonio Academy Science Fair. They not only held the fair but exhibited in it and made it one of the finest small fairs in the area. They have set a high standard for the future.

LITERARY SOCIETY

Anyone can tell you that it is no fun to be left out of things, and this group of young men who act as the program committee for the literary society try to see that no one is left out of some particular facet of the performing arts. There are recitations, debates, musical selections, current events, and many other forms than can be used to develop the abilities of all to rise to any occasion. The variety of program that has been staged this year has been of the highest quality.

THE SENIOR DRILL TEAM

This year has been one of singular honor for the drill team since it has had the opportunity to perform for many reviews and particularly for the review staged for King Antonio.

In addition to this the Academy drill team was selected to follow the float of the queen of the Battle of Flowers in the Battle of Flowers Parade.

THE JUNIOR DRILL TEAM

This is the raw material from which the Senior Drill Team is formed with so much ease. When your raw material has been refined for three years, it is little wonder that there is such perfection in the finished product.

The final reviews of the year saw this group performing and making a tremendous contribution to the excellence of the battalion.

THE ATHLETIC CLUB

The many contributions of this group would amaze those adults who are the first to mention the lack of interest the usual young person of today exhibits. Without their efforts much of the athletic equipment that is being used would not be as freely available. The many times that each has sacrificed his recess to operate the school store is much appreciated by all of us in the Class of '65.

LETTERMEN

The winners of the much to be sought "A" are those who have really spent the time and expended considerable energy to develop not just a team but a team spirit. Those pictured above have created such an organization and we are all proud of what they have accomplished.

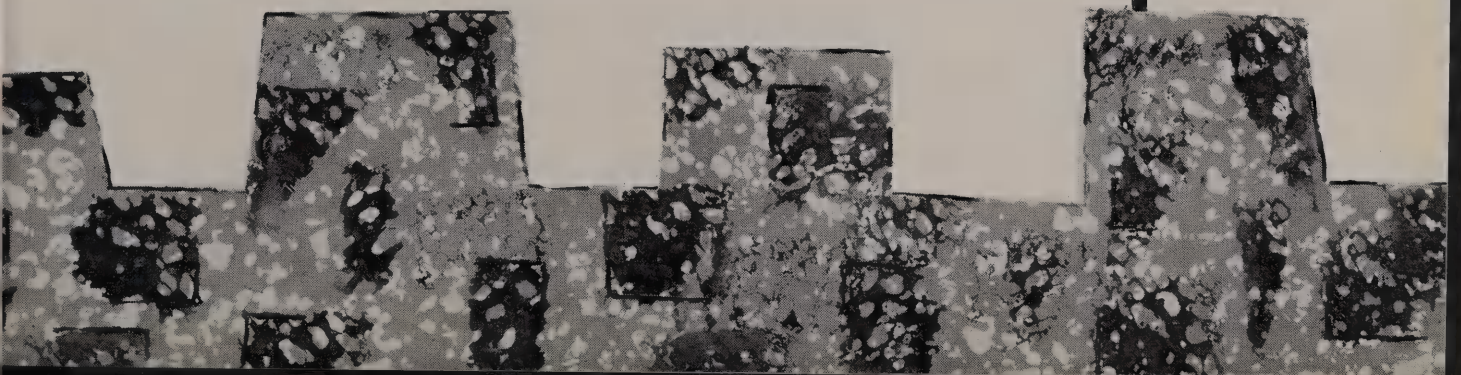

AD SALESMEN

What does it take to be a good salesman? You might ask any of this group and get many different answers because each has put something different into becoming the salesman that he is. Without this group there would be many blank pages and little opportunity to show how proud we all are of our school. Thank you all for your work on this year's annual.

OUR FOOTBALL COACHES

Coach Burke

Coach Treka

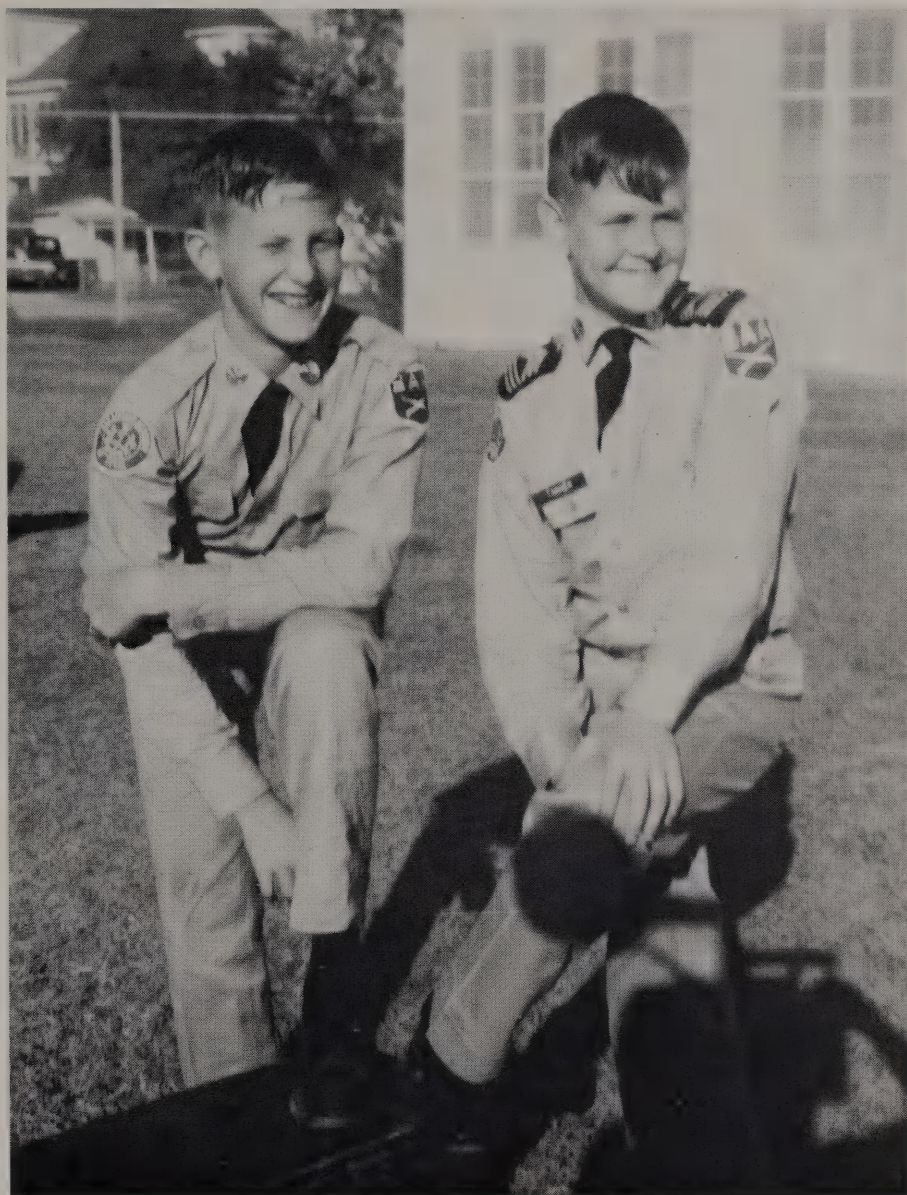

Recently there has been much discussion of dropping athletics in competitive form from the curriculum of most of the private schools or at least from the activities program. As usual it has joined many of the other things that are not purely academic to receive its share of the criticism.

Too much has already been done to minimize the need that is so evident in the lives of thousands of boys for an association on the field and in the classroom with men who set a high standard for excellence in competition. There must be excellence known, realized, and felt before the accomplishment can be superior. Our coaching staff offers these things that are an addition to the life of any well-qualified individual.

FAREWELL

The editors say farewell after a job well-done. They are congratulated by Major Bondurant, the school's president

We are proud to have had a part in the production of this distinctive and successful yearbook. We, too, share the pride you must feel in it, and value the fine esprit d'corps which has made this quality publication possible.

You are invited to visit our new, modern display rooms featuring the finest in distinctive office suites and furnishings, social stationery and office supplies as well as our Duplicating Products Division. We also invite you to see our large Manufacturing Division where this yearbook and other fine printing, lithographing and copperplate engraving is produced.
